

Hot Folder

You can batch process many images without the need to spool or send each individual image to the printer like you have to do with the standard supplied printer drivers, which is a very time consuming process.

Instead of this you would use the Hot Folder solution.

You can a hot folder in 30 seconds and then start using it immediately. The only thing you need to do is drop the images into it: You can easily drop 50 or 100 images into it simultaneously and walk away and let the Rip handle it all.

This is a perfect application for busy photographers, print labs and studios as it saves you wasting valuable time and effort sat in front of your computer.

Colour management and applying of the appropriate profiles is then fully automated

You do not need to worry if you have applied the right media type, settings or the right profile.

What would cost you a few hours of work, can now be done in a few minutes.
